CLOSING REMARKS

by Jim Hamilton

This award recognizes an individual or group for their contributions to the BC Transfer System in their role(s) as community leaders and active volunteers in professional service to the broader articulation community.

Dezene Huber

Professor (Conservation Science and Practice, and Ecosystem Science & Management), University of Northern British Columbia

“Dezene has been an exemplary leader and active member of the Biology Articulation Committee for at least 10 years... As Chair, he helped provide an atmosphere of open and collegial discussion that has been instrumental in increased involvement and movement between the K-12 curriculum changes (Ministry of Education) and the post-secondary education system for the field of biology.”

- Tara Stehelin, Instructor, Biology, Yukon College (and Chair of the Biology Articulation Committee)

Adrian Lipsett

Program Manager, Creative and Applied Arts, Langara College

“Adrian showed a keen interest and curiosity in the work of the committee and took an active role from the start... (Despite significant challenges facing the committee) he effectively balanced empathy and enthusiasm to keep our group focused on the positive and looking for opportunities to strengthen ourselves.”

“As Co-Chair, he made enormous contributions to many aspects of our group’s functioning. He is a true professional, consistently demonstrating his commitment to the group’s work with good humour and a creative approach to problem-solving.”

*- Andrea Matthews, Program Head, BC Institute of Technology
(and Chair of the ESL Articulation Committee)*

This award recognizes an individual or group for demonstrating exemplary leadership that has had a significant and positive impact on advancing the theory and practice of transfer and articulation within the BC Transfer System.

Richard Chester

Faculty Member, Natural Resources and Engineering, BC Institute of Technology

Norm Shaw

Association of BC Forest Professionals (ABCFP), and former Instructor at the BC Institute of Technology.

“Norm Shaw and Rick Chester began work on a comprehensive database in 2005 of all forestry competency outcomes delivered by technical schools in BC. They had a vision to start this process at the Forestry Articulation meeting held at the Pallisades Centre in Jasper at what is now known as the ‘Jasper Accord’. Rick and Norm have probably spent thousands of hours, mostly volunteer building and refining this tool for use by forestry schools and the professional forestry group to assess programs and individual transfer (without funding and on their own initiative). They have truly demonstrated leadership in the area of transfer in BC and have created an important legacy.”

“The Forestry and Sustainable Resources Management Articulation Committee feel that above all other work done by this committee that Rick’s and Norm’s work deserves recognition. Their work benefits the articulation committee itself but is finding utility with external organizations as well.” - Ed Morrice, Instructor, College of New Caledonia
