Working together, learning together

Our mandate is to provide teaching, learning, educational technology, and open education support to the post-secondary institutions of British Columbia. We accomplish this through collaborative leadership that brings innovative resources and effective expertise together to create awareness, understanding, and adoption of openly available curricular resources. Ultimately, our goal is to improve student learning.

Supporting the system during COVID-19

Starting the week of March 24th, we've been responding to system needs as expressed by both faculty and students in our institutions. This work has been done through hosting one-hour webinars, hosted by BCcampus staff who are or have been instructional designers, faculty development staff, and instructors in B.C. institutions. The main topics of these sessions are:

- People who are very new to online, remote teaching and learning
- How to pivot assignments, tests, exams, and other assessments online
- Developing inclusive learning environments to address accessibility in an online space
- Online synchronous teaching, featuring best practices for planning, facilitating, and tools in the online, live space
- How to pivot online, specifically for trades and vocational instructors, workplace integrated learning, and co-op
- Mental health support amid COVID-19

Coaching Event – The Impact of Powerful Questions

APRIL 29, 2020 - 2:00 PM TO 4:00 PM

Come and experience something that has disrupted and transformed our workplace culture and even our personal lives. In this session, participants will learn about using questions as a way of supporting colleagues' growth through John Witmore's (2009) GROW model. The GROW model is an easy way to introduce coaching by using the framework to identify and set goals (G), reflect on the current reality (R), revisit options and opportunities (O), and set out with a plan that will (W) be done to achieve goals.
